

The Department of Workforce Education and Development

The Editorial Board of Directors invites you to submit manuscripts for publication to
The Online Journal for Workforce Education and Development

Mission: The Online Journal for Workforce Education and Development is a peer-reviewed publication produced by the Department of Workforce Education and Development at Southern Illinois University intended to stimulate and disseminate scholarly activity on critical issues in workforce, career, and technical education, including training and development.

Intended Audience: The Journal is intended for teachers in schools, colleges, and universities; human resource developers in corporate, military and professional fields; researchers; and other specialists in workforce, career, and technical education, including training and development.

Information for Contributors: Workforce education and technology professionals are invited to submit original manuscripts that would be of interest to multiple readerships in workforce, career, and technical education, including training and development. Papers that address discipline-specific topics as well as those that have applications across disciplines are valued.

Conceptual, developmental and theoretical/applied research articles are appropriate. Comprehensive reviews of literature and reports of research and methodology will be considered. Manuscripts describing original research, analysis and application of research and theory, perspectives, development and application of programs in business and educational settings are welcome for consideration.
